

Torture

And now, as the screams grow weaker, as they change to a kind of sobbing, wailing, you know that from this moment on nothing will ever again be as it was. Because a person who has heard the screams of another person being tortured is already a different person. A person who has heard the screams of another person being tortured incurs an obligation.

Avi Shavit, Israeli Army
Gaza Beach Detention Camp for Palestinians

Paid for by Americans for a Just Peace in the Middle East
P. O. Box 1086, Santa Barbara, CA 93102, (805) 564-9122, ajpme@hotmail.com